

Using Causal Conjunctions

1. Choose a causal conjunction to complete these sentences.

because	therefore	consequently	now that as a result	even though	since	as

- a) My alarm clock didn't go off today. _____ , I was late for school.
- b) We can get the party started _____ all our guests are here.
- c) You turned the toaster up too high. _____ the toast is burnt.
- d) _____ one of the tyres has a puncture, I can't ride my bike today.
- e) Eliza didn't want soup for tea _____ she had already had it for lunch.
- f) Sam didn't come to practice tonight _____ he said he was going to.
- g) The MP resigned his seat _____ a new MP had to be selected.
- h) _____ it's so cold, we'll stay indoors today.

2. Choose three causal conjunctions and write your own sentences in the space below.

LAP Using Causal Conjunctions Answers

1. Choose a causal conjunction to complete these sentences.

- a) My alarm clock didn't go off today. As a result/Therefore, I was late for school.
- b) We can get the party started now that/because all our guests are here.
- c) You turned the toaster up too high. Consequently/Therefore/As a result, the toast is burnt.
- d) Because/As one of the tyres has a puncture, I can't ride my bike today.
- e) Eliza didn't want soup for tea as/because she had already had it for lunch.
- f) Sam didn't come to practice tonight even though he said he was going to.
- g) The MP resigned his seat therefore/consequently a new MP had to be selected.
- h) Since/Because/As it's so cold, we'll stay indoors today.